(Editor's Note: Did you ever wonder why Myra types the last few names of the race results in all capital letters? I didn't give it too much thought until this time when I'm listed THE VERY LAST RUNNER in this race. Note the name above mine. My 11-year-old daughter has decided to go for that big trophy this year, and to get all the needed points, she has to tackle some pretty tough and some pretty long races for her. It's interesting for me to stay with her during runs. I'm discovering why Arthur Lydiard says we should watch children run and go and do likewise.)

ESCAPE FROM ALCATRAZ

On Saturday, July 12, 39 participants started the 'Escape from Alcatraz' triathlon. The participants were from two rowing and swimming clubs, the Dolphin Club and the South End Club. The triathlon involved a 1 1/2 mile rough water ocean swim from Alcatraz to the Dolphin Club, a 13 mile bike ride to Mill Valley and the 14+ mile Double Dipsea run to Stinson Beach and back.

The gruelling event was won by a Dolphin Club member, Norman Lapera, a policeman of Castro Valley, in 4:14:03. Number two was Roger Major, an old-time DSE member.

Tim Sweezy, a DSE member who holds the DSE Pike's Peak record, and a member of the South End Rowing Club, expected to win due to his running speed. A flat tire foiled him; despite this he still came in fourth.

First over 40 was our loveable Brock Settlemeir of Piedmont.

Jack Bettencourt, 52, an oldtime DSEer and former President of the Dolphin Swimming Club was the oldest male finisher. Laine Pederson, 44, once the number two man in Boston, was the oldest woman. Fastest swimmer was Rich Harley of the South End Club in 30 minutes. Later he sustained a sprained ankle in the running section and had to quit at Cardiac Hill.

Long well-known DSEers were "I.B." Swannack, "B. Birdman" Weil, and Peter Butler.

Laina Spencer-Horner was the first woman, and 1st over-all. Susan Allen and Liz Jensen, other DSE women, completed the triathlon. Liz Jensen, co-owner of Fleet Feet, recently completed the Hawaiian Triathlon, and deserves "I.B." insignia).

Of the 39 participants, the 6 women participants finished, 4 men failed - 3 in the swim and one in the run.

Triathlon was inadvertently omitted from schedule last month. The affair will be rescheduled for Saturday, 10 AM, August 15 from Dolphin Club at 502 Jefferson.

It involves a double Muni Pier run (2 1/2 miles) and a half mile swim from the Dolphin Dock to last bouy and back.

Those wishing to do the run only can obtain race credit by entering and paying the one dollar fee.

Road Runners of America sponsored Women's Festival Runs throughout the country. DSE's run to celebrate women running was one of the toughest - the Legion of Honor run. Congratulations to all who ran, especially the women, speedsters and turtles alike.

In the turtle corner, the official Turtle Team, all five members decked out in running shorts and DSE T-shirts, ran the West Valley Relays at Lake Merced on August 2. The team - Ellen Breslauier, captain, Marion Birkmyer, Delaine Irwin, Myra Green, and Shannon McKenna, finished in 3:33:49 in the honored position of next-to-last. The Turtles started slowly, tapered off, and didn't finish dead last.

The DERED team ran in 2:35:32 and should make the DSE proud of all five members - Russell Breslauier, captain, Ed and Doerte Murray, Emery Woo and Denise Fong. This team was in the middle of the pack. The winning team finished in 1:48:48.

Note about the Mt. Davidson Run - 7/12/81

Despite the festivities of the S.F. Marathon the DSE run was held on July 12th for a handful of eager hill-climbers. Since I had volunteered to organize the run in Walt's absence I felt a responsibility in knowing the route. So, I enlisted the assistance of a fellow DSE member (and avid hill-climber) and we journeyed to the top of Mt. Davidson earlier in the week.

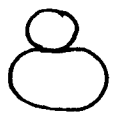

Before the race I carefully explained the path to the top attempting to include every conceivable landmark on this slightly confusing course. I was pleased with my explanation until a voice yelled, "Hey, you sound like a farmer from back East giving directions!" (Well, Michigan.. I guess that's East to Californians). Finally, I gave up, blew the whistle, and yelled, "Follow me!" And I proceeded to lead an interesting journey to the top — you did say "open course", Walt.

My apologies to those individuals whose times were not recorded for reasons unknown to me. You did all find the cross — and came back — and that's what matters.

A special thanks to Paul Resignato for breaking into my car with a bobby pin to retrieve my car keys. Paul wanted a big kiss for performing that heroic feat, but my shyness wouldn't permit it. Later he managed to stride by me on the downhill, so he received a well-deserved hug and kiss for coming in first overall (19:50).

Thanks to everyone who helped me with the run. We all missed Walt and the other faithful DSE runners. Congratulations on the S.F. Marathon to those who ran or helped at the finish line.

PEPSI LAKE TAHOE 72 MILER

By Dick Collins

The sixth annual edition of this race was held on Friday, September 18, 1981. The race had 106 starters (up 18 from 1980) and at the 18 hour cut-off, 79 finishers. There were four women starters including Peggy Smith of the DSE. Peggy was the 1st woman finisher in 13:52:24. Quite a performance for a recent mother running her first Ultra.

The other women finishers were:

Mary Lyn Deaton	15:55:00
Carol La Plant	16:09:06
Gloria Bassler	16:25:06 (1st Master's woman)

The first runner across the finish line was Jim King whose time of 9:27:48 was the second fastest time ever for this race.

Rae Clark of San Jose finished second in 9:37:32 - an improvement over last year of one place and six seconds. Other DSE and Local runners who completed the race included:

	Time	# of Times Finished
Joe Schieffer	11:41:53
Steve Jaber	12:40:10	(2nd)
Tom McManus	13:21:53	3rd
Dick Collins	14:31:10	3rd
John Buenfil	14:41:10	3rd
Bob Myers	15:17:51
Jack Cover	16:10:18
Joe Campi	17:06:52
Sherman Welpton	17:25:55	2nd
Steve Cole	17:26:45	2nd

Sherman Welpton out-sprinted Steve Cole to the finish line to avoid finishing last two years in a row (they were really both walking.)

Lee Schmidt and Tony Stratta participated for 60 and 48 miles respectively.

Elliott Eisenbud finished the race for the 4th consecutive year, and Dick Collins, John Buenfil and Tom McManus for the 3rd consecutive year.

The race organization was good as usual and the weather was clear and warm. This race is a good stepping stone for runners aspiring to run Western States.

HASH IS UNUSUAL GAME

(The Hash House Harriers Again)

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (AP)

The San Salvador chapter is no longer heard from and the one in Peking has been disappointing, but growing numbers of Hash House harriers are running and drinking around the world.

The Hash, as members call it, is distant cousin to a game from Victorian England in which a pack of "hounds" try to follow a trail of paper left by a "hare."

As adapted by a few British colonialists in tropical Malaya in 1937, the beer at the end of the run became important - some say more important - than the run itself.

It's not likely to become an Olympic event, but the Hash has grown rapidly in recent years. There are at least 221 chapters in 51 countries compared to 100 groups in 25 countries in 1978, says John M.B. Duncan of the mother chapter in Kuala Lumpur. World membership is at least 20,000, he says.

"We haven't heard from the people in San Salvador for six or eight months. That's defunct for sure," he says of the Hash in strife-torn El Salvador.

The Chinese capital posed different problems. "They seem to have come to a stop after one or two runs. It apparently was hard to explain why they wanted to scatter paper around Peking. We also heard that crowds of the curious gathered and runners had to stop and describe what they were doing and shake hands before they could resume."

The founding chapter, one of five in the Kuala Lumpur area, has 120 members who pay monthly dues of $6.52.

They run after work each Monday, covering five to seven miles.

The hare and a helper scout the area in advance. A good trail keeps the pack together for the first three-quarters of the run.

Clever laying of "checks to confuse and slow the harriers is necessary for a satisfactory event, Duncan says. The paper trail ends abruptly at the checks. It must resume within a radius of 100 yards, but the continuation may be hidden from the searching harriers by trees or undergrowth. Leaders of the pack shout "checking" and fan out to discover where the trail resumes. When found, the cry "on, on" rallies the runners.

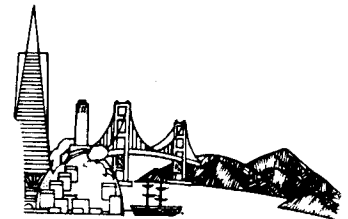

The original rules gave the hares a 10 minute head start. If the pack overtakes them while they are scattering paper, the hares are supposed to be stripped of their shorts and left to fend for themselves. This has not happened in recorded Hash history, says Duncan, and in fact, the hares are given plenty of time to plan a crafty trail.

August 8, 1981 The Montclarion

For Dick Collins

Fifty miles is a short foot race

About six years ago, carrying close to 240 pounds on his 5-foot-11 frame, Collins decided to take up running and take off a little weight.

Pretty soon he was enjoying himself enough that he decided he'd do even better if he quit smoking.

As the pounds began to drop (he now weighs 175) and his lungs hurt less and less, he took the next logical step and began entering races.

It was a casual thing at first, but as he began to notice that, being in his early 40's, he was not as fast as most, but could last a good while longer, he got more deeply involved.

First came the marathons. Collins ran more than a dozen and found himself wanting more.

"You kind of get to a point where you find you are doing the best you are going to do (time-wise)," he said. "You can get all caught up and frustrated simply trying to improve your time, and you end up beating your head against the wall."

Collins stopped beating and in early 1979 decided to try a 50-mile race in Northern California, the Feather River 50.

He claims he really didn't intend to do much more than that, but by this time he had joined the famous Dolphin South End Running club of San Francisco, and was intrigued by the club's annual award for the most miles run by a member-fittingly called the "Man of the Year" award.

Soon after he tried a 48-hour race, which is not a steady two days of running, but a contest to see who can run the farthest over a two-day period, sleeping and eating included.

Collins surprised himself by totaling 138 miles with a good night's rest in between.

After that, it seems, he was hooked. He had found his niche in the world of running and was excited by it.

"After I did that," he recalls, "I didn't know what I might be able to do."

As noted earlier, he has done plenty since, including becoming one of only a handful of ultra-runners to finish three times the prestigious Western States Endurance Run, a grueling, 100-mile run-walk along the historic Sierra-Nevada Western states Trail from Squaw Valley

by Michael Gray

There are distance runners - and then there are distance runners.

Oakland's Dick Collins is one of the latter, and one of the best of this growing breed of runners who eschews the popular affinity for speed and instead test the limits of their strength and endurance.

They are coming to be known as "ultra-marathoners" or "ultra-distance runners," and those who have ever attempted their game know that "ultra" is a well-deserved superlative.

A simple recap of some of Dick Collins' long races during his three- and a-half year career should get the point across: eight 50-mile races, three 72-mile races, one 78-mile race, four 100-mile races, one each at 104 miles, 105 miles and 138 miles and last, but far from least- one 350-mile run.

For Collins, a marathon (26-plus miles) is a walk around the block. He and other ultra-runners do two in a weekend when they can't find a single race that's longer.

That's getting to be less of a problem.

"This has been a closet-type thing," admits Collins, 47. "The races haven't been advertised a lot and results are almost never published."

But lately, he said, as the numbers of those at least attempting ultra-distances has grown, things are getting a bit more structured, starting lines a bit more crowded. A magazine dedicated solely to the off-beat sport has recently sprung up. Collins sees it as a natural evolution.

"In the running movement, all the emphasis has been on speed," he explained. "But a lot of people are finding that running for time just isn't their cup of tea, and are turning to long distance running as an alternative."

Collins himself is such a convert.

to Auburn.

Just this past June, Collins joined even more exclusive company by finishing the Western States in under 24 hours 23 hours and 11 minutes to be exact.

And last year, Collins was runner-up in a six day race. In the period of 144 hours, he completed 350 miles. And that came just a week after the 1980 Western States run. He's won the Dolphin club's mileage award twice in the last three years.

According to Collins, "race" and "run" are relative terms to ultra-runners.

"Over such long distances, you have to both walk and run. That way you use different muscles and nothing gets too stressed," he explained.

"Making a good time is only part of the attraction," he said. "Testing your endurance and completing the race is really the primary thing."

Collins is a man of his word. He has finished the last 85 marathon-or-longer runs he has started, but he's starting to feel a little pressure to keep that streak alive.

That's because pain and weariness are also relative concepts for ultra-runners. Collins said he has been lucky so far with injuries; he's never been hurt bad enough to keep him out of action for any length of time.

Interestingly, most ultra-runners are middle-aged, Collins said, between 30 and 50. He says it has to do with the ability of a body that has run for several years to adjust to such constant stress, and with patience that younger runners just don't generally have.

Yet there's something of a youthful exuberance present, too, at least for Collins.

He actually has fun running such ridiculous distances, and it seems like he just can't get enough.

For instance, if you happened to travel to Lake Tahoe along Highway 80 this past weekend, and thought you saw a couple of middle-aged men plodding along a far-off mountain trail, you just might have.

That was Dick Collins and an ultra-running friend re-running this year's Western State's Endurance Trail.

"Just for fun," Collins grinned.
