. . . Through May 13, 1990 this year's first half runs had a high of 88% clubbers in the field of the Kennedy Drive Run and a low of 62% at the Hangover Run. The average per run to date is 74% with this year's Double Dipsea figures not yet counted. (1989's average without its Double Dipsea was 71%.)

DATA BREAKERS

I parked my car at Howard and Spear
A beautiful day in May
Then all of a sudden I heard a gun sound,
Thousands were running away.

I thought it best that I run too
Because I had heard a shot
I was sprinting and jogging and sprinting and jogging,
I evened it out with a trot.

Far in the distance I saw a large sign
A crowd of people were there
Thousands and thousands were cheering me on
And then I started to tear.

Then I found out it was all a race
And how it had been so queer
For then I must walk all the way back
To the corner of Howard and Spear.
